We're Still Here!
At 15 Parkway

The News Review's move to the Community Center has been delayed due to the Blizzard of '96. The new moving date is January 19.

City crews clear the snow from the center parking lot (near the Post Office). Front end loaders were used to load the snow into dump trucks.

Two Foot Snow Does Not Faze
Dedicated Public Works Crews

by James Giese

Although Greenbelters faced high piles of snow in front of their driveways and beside cars parked on the streets, they still wondered what all the fuss was about in the rest of the Washington area with streets closed and transportation services canceled. As usual, the Greenbelt Public Works Department came through with flying colors and kept city streets open to necessary traffic and emergency vehicles.

"I went out with Kenny Hall [Public Works Superintendent of Operations] on Monday and drove all over town," Mayor Antoinette Bram reported. "It's amazing the work that the city crews had done as compared to the conditions on the state highways such as Greenbelt Road and Kenilworth Avenue."

How deep the snow was in Greenbelt depends on whom you talk to. The wind did cause drifts that made some parts deeper than others. One television station reported a snowfall of 18 inches in College Park. Hall thought it was more like 25 inches. Whatever, the street crews worked around the clock from Saturday to Monday evening keeping all city streets in "passable" condition, with crewmembers taking only brief rest breaks.

"Slap in the Face"

On Tuesday, crews began the day concentrating on clearing out parking lots and opening up roadways to full widths. However, a predicted snow flurry that turned into a fall of several more inches of snow forced city crews to go back to plowing the streets again. Bram called the unexpected added snow a "slap in the face" to the "excellent and constant" effort of the city crews.

In snow emergencies, first priority is given to the main roads with every effort given to keep the minor streets and cul-de-sacs open for essential travel. Once the snow stops and the streets are open to travel, the crews then concentrate on clearing city parking lots to enable city and commercial facilities to open for business, and to widen streets from curb-to-curb.

Once the city crews returned to clearing parking lots and widening roadways, they faced an arduous task expected to take many days to complete. These jobs require the use of the city's limited number of heavy duty trucks and front end loaders. There was too much snow for the plows to just push it to the side in the parking lots, and the snow had to be loaded onto trucks and hauled away to the Northway ballfields.

Public Assistance

Parked cars make it difficult for plows to do their work. Hall urged residents to keep cars off the streets as much as possible, to keep them to one side of the street until the plows clear the other side and then to move them so that plows can get to the other side of the street. Public Works Director Carl Hirsch noted a special problem caused when cars park on both sides of the entrance to the turnarounds at the end of dead-end streets. He urged residents to throw the snow from driveways and around parked cars onto the area behind the curb rather than into the streets. Snow thrown into the streets will most probably be pushed back into driveways and beside parked cars again.

Hall thinks the department is in pretty good shape to face another snow storm. "We'll start the process all over again," he said. Although minor equipment breakdowns have required extra effort by the city's auto repair mechanics, there have been no major breakdowns. The city's road salt supply is plentiful and plenty of salt is on hand at the suppliers. Also on hand is a supply of sand, used as an abrasive when it is too cold for the salt to melt snow.

Outstanding Job

Hirsch could not praise his crews enough for the outstanding job they did. He made a point to include the crew at the mechanic's shop for commendation. The blades on snow plows regularly wear out from scraping the streets and need to be replaced. Hydraulic hoses on equipment also wear out and break, requiring replacement.

Two new dump trucks are on order. Hirsch is grateful that the city council approved their purchase and that the city is replacing 1 1/2 ton trucks with heavier duty 2 ton trucks. He believes that the larger trucks will be more useful to the city in dealing with snow emergencies. He only wishes that he had had them for this storm.

The city has hung on to an old bulldozer that it once used in operating a landfill many years ago. Although it sits idle for most of the time, it really becomes useful when a major snow storm occurs. No other piece of equipment can push a big pile of snow as well. Not scheduled for replacement, it will be kept for snow emergencies, Hall says, until it breaks down and repair parts are no longer available.

Oops!

A snow crew did get into trouble pushing a pile of snow with another piece of equipment, according to Hirsch. It turns out that there was a small car under the pile, which sustained some damage. It is not unusual for snow removal equipment to hit parked vehicles sticking out farther into the roadway than other cars when plowing during heavy snowfalls, even though a second crewmember usually rides "shotgun" on the truck.

During the snow emergency, the department responded to several special requests. Some were to help fire department ambulances and police vehicles get to emergency scenes. One special request was from a resident in Greensprings to open up his driveway so that he could take his wife, who had begun labor, to the hospital. Public Works crews also opened up the entrance to the Greenbelt Nursing Home and Convalescent Center for emergency use, if necessary. Once the vehicles are dug out and put on the road, the city crews

Community Center
Opening Delayed

The grand opening of the Community Center scheduled for this Saturday, January 13 has been postponed because of the Blizzard of 1996. The Greenbelt City Council will discuss a new date for the celebration at their regular meeting on Tuesday, January 16 at 8 p.m.

A worksession will follow the meeting.

planned to clean out the parking area for postal vehicles.

Although most residents were pleased to see the plows go by at any hour, one woman did call the department late at night to complain that the noisy plows had awakened her grandchild. There were also the usual complaints about plows pushing snow back into cleared driveways and against parked cars just dug out from the snow.

Refuse Service

The city cancelled refuse service for most, if not all of the week, with regular service to be resumed Monday, unless another snow emergency occurs. Crews are not working not only because of difficulty in accessing refuse containers but also because crew members are snowed in at their homes. Residents are urged to clear paths to their refuse containers.

Recycling collections also were cancelled and will probably not be resumed until late this week or early next week.

We're Baking
Bread" - Co-op

"We're selling virtually everything we have," said Bob Davis, manager of Greenbelt's Co-op grocery, during Tuesday's post-blizzard mob scene at the store. "No one in Greenbelt is going to starve, but we're kind of harried around here."

Closed Sunday during the height of the storm, the Co-op was open for business on Monday and Tuesday and served record crowds. Fortunately, half of the staff lives within a mile of the store, said Davis, and "a good group of core employees came early and stayed late."

Deliveries were way down. Only three deliveries were received on Tuesday, instead of the usual 40. The store's stock of milk and bread ran out on Tuesday afternoon. "We're baking bread and rolls in back of the store to make up the shortfall," said Davis. "If we only had cows, we'd do some milking."

M. L. King, Jr.
Holiday
Refuse
Schedule

Because of the M. L. King, Jr. Holiday, the CITY OFFICE WILL BE CLOSED MONDAY, JANUARY 15, 1996, AND REFUSE WILL NOT BE COLLECTED. Monday's route will be collected on TUESDAY, and Tuesday's route will be collected on WEDNESDAY. THURSDAY AND FRIDAY ROUTES WILL BE ON THEIR REGULAR SCHEDULE. Special trash, previously requested, will be collected with the regular refuse collections. Yard waste will be collected on Wednesday.

The recyclable routes will be collected on their regular schedule.

Greenbelt Connection
M.L. King, Jr. Holiday Schedule

Because of the M.L. King, Jr. Holiday, Monday, January 15, 1996, the city's dial-a-ride service, The Greenbelt Connection, will NOT operate that day. The service will resume on Tuesday, January 16, 1996.

Letters

Great Plowing

Kudos to Greenbelt Public Works for their hard work removing this mountain of snow. Trying to drive elsewhere, even on state maintained Greenbelt Road, I was amazed at how effective our city's snow removal crew is compared to other localities.

Thanks also to the GHI crew, who struggled valiantly to clear so many parking lots in GHI courts.

Just one more reason that "Greenbelt is GREAT!"

Connie Arnold

Meeting Cancelled

The Jan. 13 Open Door Meeting with Maryland legislators has been cancelled due to the snow. The meeting will be rescheduled.

State Tax Offices

Open on January 15

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says all state income tax offices will be open on Monday, January 15, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. to assist Maryland taxpayers. Most other state and federal agencies will be closed due to the observance of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday.

In addition to Monday, January 15, the Comptroller's Office will be open for business while other state offices will be closed on the following holidays: Monday, February 12, Lincoln's Birthday; Monday February 19, Washington's Birthday; Monday, March 25, Maryland Day; and Friday, April 5, Good Friday.

Twenty local taxpayer service offices will be open on each of these dates, and tax officials will help complete Maryland returns, answer questions, or provide tax forms and other information. The addresses and phone numbers of the offices are listed on the back of the Maryland Income tax booklet and in most local phone directories.

The office closest to Greenbelt is located at 2730 University Blvd. West, Wheaton. A new office is scheduled to open at 8181 Professional Place, New Carrollton.

V. MEETINGS

Community Events

Greenbelt Greens

The Greenbelt Greens will meet on Thursday, January 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the Police Station. There will be a report on the recent Third Parties '96 conference and a discussion on whether or not the Greens will support Ralph Nader for president. Refreshments will be served. For further information call 474-1998.

Gray Panthers Meet

Gray Panthers will have an open public meeting Saturday, January 20 at 1:30 p.m. at the Greenbelt Police Station. Beverly Hummel, back by popular demand, will give Greenbelters an update on what is happening to Medicare and Medicaid, current health care legislation, and where health care reform stands.

Hummel is director of the Health-Care-for-All speakers bureau. She is on the executive board of the Montgomery County Gray Panthers, and also is director of a national Letters-to-the-Editor network across the United States.

Hummel will explain the pitfalls of the enormously profitable for-profit health care system and the way it has distorted society. She has explained this problem to over 260 local organizations and has been on local media and TV. There will be free refreshments. All persons of all ages are invited. For information telephone 474-6890.

Bio-aerobic Classes Offered in Greenbelt

Registration for the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission bio-aerobic dance fitness classes has begun. The New Year session begins the week of Jan. 22 with classes at Greenbelt Middle School and the Greenbelt Youth Center. For information and a free brochure call 262-5175.

There will be a free demonstration class in bio-aerobics at the Greenbelt Youth Center on Tuesday, Jan. 16 at 7 p.m.

School Board Holds Budget Hearing

The Prince George's County School System will hold a public hearing on Schools Superintendent Dr. Jerome Clark's proposed Fiscal Year 1997 operating budget on Tuesday, January 30 at Eleanor Roosevelt High School. The hearing will begin at 7 p.m.

The hearing had originally been scheduled to take place on January 16. However, the new date was established in order to provide the public with more time to study the budget and to identify discussion topics for the hearings.

The budget itself will be available at all county schools and public libraries providing the public with two to three weeks to review the information.

For more information, contact 952-6003.

Board of Education Has Town Meeting

Prince George's County Board of Education Chairwoman Marcy Canavan will host a town meeting at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, January 17, in the Board of Education headquarters, Sasscer Administration Building, 14201 School Lane, Upper Marlboro. For more information, contact 952-6115.

Golden Age Club

by Dolores Capotosto

The next meeting of the Golden Age Club will be on January 17, at which time the new officers will be installed. Too bad "the blizzard of 1996" caused the cancellation of the January 10 party.

The speaker for the January 17 meeting will be Karen Moren from OPI Health Care Services. She will talk about "Extended Care," a timely subject for seniors as a crisis can happen very quickly and it helps to have updated information. At an upcoming meeting, Mike Mesal of the Greenbelt Police Bike Patrol will be the speaker.

Membership Chair Lori Moran reminds members that it's time to pay the 1996 dues. It was voted on and approved by the Club that one dollar be added to this year's dues. This will help cover the cost for a project to send underprivileged children to Camp Pine Tree in the summer. Dues should be paid by April 1 if a member wishes to participate in this year's activities.

See you at the meetings - soon I hope.

Tips on Testing Offered by PTA

The PTA and the Greenbelt Elementary School staff will host an evening of testing tips to help children on Wednesday, Jan. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the school. An overview of current schoolwide testing results on the Maryland Performance Program will be presented. Small group sessions will be provided for parents to examine and to understand the variety of tests children are expected to take during the school year. The sessions will be followed by a dessert social in the multipurpose room.

At the Library

The Adult Book Discussion on Wednesday, January 17, at 2 p.m. will feature Ernest J. Gaines' "A Lesson Before Dying".

P.J. Storytime for ages 4 - 6 will meet on Wednesday, January 17, at 7 p.m.

On Thursday, January 18, the Drop-In Storytime for ages 3 - 5 will meet at 10:15 a.m.

Owl Prowl

The Patuxent Research Refuge North Tract Visitor Contact Station located at Bald Eagle Drive in Laurel will hold a program entitled "Owl Prowl" on Sunday, January 21, 5 - 7 p.m.

Look and listen for these nocturnal creatures of the refuge on this guided walk. For ages 8 and older. Participants should dress for the outdoors. Advance registration is required. Call (410) 674-3304, TDD (410) 674-4625.

Holiday Closings

All branches and offices of the Prince George's County Memorial Library System will be closed Monday, January 15 in observance of Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday. The City of Greenbelt and Greenbelt Homes, Inc. offices will also be closed.

Our Neighbors

Congratulations to Helen and Harvey Geller of Northway on the celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. The Geller's daughters, Elise, Barbara, and Holly and their husbands hosted a luncheon on January 6 at the Penwick House in Dunkirk followed by a reception at the Huntingtown home of Holly and William Hay. Helping the Gellers celebrate were their six grandchildren and many friends.

Glad to hear Ethel Rosenzweig has been released from Holy Cross Hospital and is now recovering at the Greenbelt Convalescent Center.

Best wishes to Alex Barnes who celebrated his 28th birthday on Tuesday with dinner at a local restaurant.

Kudos to all the good Greenbelters who helped their neighbors in need shovel out driveways and plowed in cars.

Our deepest sympathy to all residents who shoveled out their cars and driveways only to have them plowed in once more by passing snowplows. Our highest accolades to those residents who cheerfully shoveled out once again after the plows did them dirt.

It was meet-your-neighbor time at the grocery stores as Greenbelters walked there for needed supplies and stood in long lines with nothing to do except chat and tell their snow war stories.

POLICE BLOTTER

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

Based on information released in the Weekly Activity Report dated January 5, by the Greenbelt Police Department.

A woman was robbed at gun point on the evening of Thursday, Jan. 4, in the 6000 block of Springhill Dr. While walking to her residence, she observed two men who appeared to be arguing. As she entered the apartment building, the two men walked up to her, one grabbed her around the neck, produced a handgun and demanded money. After telling the men her money was in her vehicle, she was forced back to her car. The men took her money and jewelry, and fled the scene on foot towards Springhill Lane.

The suspects are described as: 1) a black man, about 26 years old, 5'7", 160 lbs., dark complexion, wearing all black clothing, displaying a handgun; and 2) a black man with dark complexion, wearing dark clothing, also displaying a handgun.

Responding to a report of a vehicle illegally parked in a handicapped space in Greenway Center on Sunday, Dec. 31, the officer asked the driver to move the vehicle. After the woman responded using profanity, the officer issued a parking citation. When he noticed a two-year-old child standing on the back seat of the vehicle, he inquired as to the location of the safety seat. At this time the driver attempted to drive away, and the officer told her to park the vehicle and produce a driver's license and registration card.

At this time the adult passenger began yelling profanities at the officer, causing several people to gather. The passenger was told to cease or be placed under arrest. When she continued to be abusive, the officer ordered the passenger out of the vehicle. While attempting to handcuff her, the officer was struck in the head by the passenger. The driver exited the vehicle and also began striking the officer. A second officer, who responded to assist the arresting officer, was also assaulted by the two women.

Both women, non-residents ages 32 and 24, were arrested, charged with battery, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. After appearing before a District Court Commissioner, the women were released pending trial. A 15-year-old non-resident juvenile passenger in the vehicle was also arrested, charged with disorderly conduct, and released to a parent pending trial.

A window in the Aquatics and Fitness Center was broken out on Wednesday evening, Jan. 3.

Thefts

A man reported a burglary in progress at his residence in the 5900 block of Cherrywood Lane on Thursday evening, Jan. 4. Upon returning home, the man noticed from outside, that the lights of his apartment were on and that someone was looking out through the balcony door. The man saw a possible suspect running from the apartment building while he believed another suspect remained inside. Officers checked the apartment for other suspects, though none were found. While a burglary occurred, nothing appeared to have been taken. The suspect was described as a black man with dark complexion wearing dark clothing.

An officer patrolling the 5900 block of Cherrywood Lane on Friday, Dec. 29, stopped a vehicle for a traffic violation. A computer check revealed the temporary tags on the vehicle had been reported stolen to Alexandria Police. The driver, an 18-year-old non-resident man, was arrested, charged with theft, and released on citation pending trial.

A residence in the 6000 block of Springhill Dr. was reported

Keep Hydrants Clear

The Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission asks residents to please make certain that nearby fire hydrants are not covered or obscured by plowed or shoveled snow. In the event of an emergency, fire fighting crews need to locate these units as quickly as possible in order to get water flowing and extinguish the blaze.

burglarized on Friday evening, Dec. 29. An electronic game and jewelry were taken in the burglary. While investigating the incident, a 15-year-old resident youth was arrested, charged with burglary, and released to a parent pending trial. The electronic game was recovered and returned to the victim.

A 15-year-old non-resident youth was charged on a juvenile petition with two counts of strong arm robbery on Wednesday, Dec. 20. The robberies occurred at Eleanor Roosevelt High School on Dec. 13 and 14. The youth was released to a parent pending trial.
